

First Closed Job Finished Saturday by Fisher Plant

PARIS GETS BRITISH REPARATIONS NOTE

INCREASE NUMBER OF WORKERS FOR REGULAR OUTPUT

NEW ERA MARKED IN AUTO PRODUCTION HERE.

FORCE DOUBLED

225 Now Work for Fisher; July Quota, 1042 Coupes, 800 Sedans.

Saturday marks another epoch in the city's automobile history with the first Janesville made Fisher body—a coupe—being completed and run into the Chevrolet plant to be mounted on a chassis. For two weeks the Fisher Body company has been assembling closed jobs and Saturday was its culmination. The output will increase daily until winter when only Janesville made bodies will be seen at the local Fisher plant.

A. J. Brandt, manager of the Fisher Body company, announced that the plant here has been doubled in the past two weeks and this will be repeated within another 60 days so that by Oct. 1, 450 men and women will be employed. There are approximately 225 now. Two weeks ago there were 120.

Turn Out 6,000 Paint Jobs.

Six thousand paint jobs have been turned out by the local Fisher plant since starting operation. All closed jobs assembled here for sometime will be coupes, until the men become proficient, when sedans will be manufactured. Sedans are said to require more workmanship (Continued on Page 4.)

FARMERS FIND WOMAN DEAD ON HIGHWAY

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miss Mary E. Smith, 22, of the body of a woman who died at a hospital here Friday night, as that of Miss J. C. Doyle of LaCrosse, was made Saturday from laundry marks found on her clothing. The woman was found in a dying condition on a road near here, a partly filled bottle of poison lying beside her. Hospital physicians said there is no evidence of burns about the mouth, which should have resulted had her death been due to poison. The woman was found by two farmers who succeeded in stopping the machine in which they were riding just short of the point where she lay. She was unconscious and died soon after arriving at the hospital.

Reports to the police are to the effect that an automobile was parked near the spot a short time before the woman was found.

FRENCH INABILITY TO PAY HER DEBTS IS EXAGGERATED

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Paris—The debt question between the United States and Great Britain having been settled, it is natural for Americans to ask what is the chance of an agreement to pay something on the loan she secured from Washington during the war which amounted to about three billion dollars and upon which no interest has yet been paid.

France's capacity to pay the United States is to a certain extent a question upon the sums she will receive from Germany, but an altogether misleading impression has been given to the American people about the capacity of all European peoples to pay their war debts, chiefly because foreign officers everywhere have thought that was the way to bring about a reduction, if not a cancellation, of these debts.

Unfortunately the Europeans have talked so much about their inability (Continued on Page 11)

Pancho Villa.

THOUSANDS VIEW BODY OF FORMER BANDIT CHIEFTAIN

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parrai, Chihuahua, Mexico.—The body of Francisco (Pancho) Villa, Robin Hood of Mexico, indisputably the most interesting character of contemporary Mexican history, a strange combination of "horse" sense and fiery impulse, lies in the city hall here, where thousands of persons Saturday viewed it.

Always heavily guarded, as part of his military strategy he learned in a hard school of experience, Villa met death Friday on the outskirts of Parrai, between Long's House and the Guana-Juanito bridge.

Col. Miguel Trillo, Villa's secretary, and Rosendo Morales, one body guard, and a bystander whose name has not been learned also were killed. One Villa guard was wounded. Seven Assassins.

BOARD IS NAMED

Unity in Electing Public Officials Demanded at Closing Session.

Superior.—Labor delegates to Wisconsin State Federation of Labor convention were urged at the closing session to use their political power in working for the election of a governor and legislators favorable to the working class.

J. J. Handley, secretary-treasurer of the federation told the delegates they represented the largest single organization in the state, and that their political power was greater than that of any other group. He said a senate should be returned next year favorable to labor's cause.

George J. Schneider, congressman from the ninth Wisconsin district, reiterated the sentiment expressed by Mr. Handley. He centered an attack on former Governor E. L. Philipp, now president of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, who, he said, is using his position to build a political machine.

Members of the federation executive board met at the late afternoon session, following.

From Milwaukee, James F. Sheehan, W. E. Brown, William Coleman, and Fred Schaefer; from the rest of the state, Congressman G. J. Schneider, Appleton, J. C. Galt, Madison, Frank Janda, Oshkosh, W. H. Sommers, Racine; William Glesse, Fond du Lac.

SIGSBEE IS LAID TO REST

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York.—Funeral services for Rear Admiral Sigsbee, commander of the ill-fated battleship Maine, were held Saturday in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, conducted by the Rev. H. H. Vessie.

Honorary bearers were: Rear Admiral Charles F. P. Plunkett, Major General Robert Lee Bullard, Melville E. Stone, Col. Henry L. Swoards and Major Philip S. Tilden.

Memorial services were held in the honor of the admiral Friday night in the Sigsbee home, at which eulogy was spoken by the Right Rev. Father Midwick, chaplain of the dining at the time she was destroyed. Four other Maine survivors were present.

Admiral Sigsbee's body will be taken to Washington for interment in Arlington National cemetery.

MAGNUSON, SENDER OF YULE BOMB, TO ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Marshfield.—An appeal for a new trial to the state supreme court by John Magnuson, alleged sender of the "Yule bomb" which killed Mrs. Clementine Chapman and maimed her husband, James A. Chapman, is expected to be made next week, according to T. W. Braun, Wisconsin Rapids attorney, special prosecutor in the trial in which Magnuson was convicted and sentenced to Waupun for life, it became known here.

Frank Sawcett, Milwaukee attorney, it is said, will argue the case before the supreme court.

The appeal is said to be financed by brothers of Magnuson.

Villa, Peon, Bandit, Murderer and Hero

TEN YEARS A BLOODY TERROR TO NORTHERN MEXICO

Peon farmer boy—hoarder of unknown wealth; outlawed bandit—soldier hero; devoted husband—barren wastrel; just free-headed leader—cruel and vindictive dictator; cool and clever political adventurer—raving and bloodthirsty murderer; shrewd statesman—ignorant manufacturer. Such a man is Francisco Villa, "The Tiger," as seen by his friends and by his enemies.

Rivalling Robin Hood in the varied career of his life, but lacking the polish of that famed Old English figure, Francisco Villa was a character about whom there has been more written, perhaps, than about any other Mexican of his generation; a man whose name will go down in history as that of one of the most picturesque and widely known men of intrigue-ridden Mexico.

Villa's personal history and life have been as much a mooted question as has been the right and wrong of his cause. His birth is shrouded in doubt—place, time, ancestry.

Mexico's "man of blood" has been claimed as brother of a vagabond, as a "squaw man," as a half-breed of Mexican-Negro blood, as a half-breed of Mexican-Indian blood, and as a full-fledged Mexican of pure Spanish extraction.

The Reverend Alfred Young, a native minister of Baltimore, claimed Villa was his brother. His hair was short and "kinky" like that of the African; his cheek bones high and prominent like those of the Indian; his complexion that of the Mexican; his temperament that of the Castilian.

ADOLPH ECKMAN IN "NOT GUILTY" PLEA

Preliminary Examination Is Set for July 27 Before Justice Williams.

Whitewater.—Adolph Eckman, Walworth county farmer, brought here in the custody of Turnkey Will Cusack, was arraigned before Justice Charles Williams and pleaded not guilty to a first degree murder charge.

The information, filed by District Attorney Alfred Godfrey, was read. Preliminary examination will be before Justice Williams, July 27 at the court house in Elkhorn.

Eckman was returned to jail.

MINNEAPOLIS MAYOR GIVEN FULL DIVORCE

Minneapolis.—Mayor George E. Leach Saturday was granted a decree of absolute divorce from his wife, Pearl V. Leach, on the ground of desertion. An answer to the legal complaint from Mrs. Leach was presented in court, "admitting" any and all allegations. Mr. and Mrs. Leach were married at Fish Creek, Wis., Oct. 9, 1913.

Herrin Slaughter Laid to "Gunmen"

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield, Ill.—The ugly countenance of the American "gunman" Saturday was blamed for the Herrin calamity, in a brief filed by Frank Farrington, of the Illinois Mine Workers with the United States commission, in answer to brief filed by the National Coal association. This brief is the first formal expression from the miners' president regarding Herrin.

Letter Is Offered

Highly armed gunmen, Mr. Farrington's answer says, "actually took possession of part of the country." For proof he offers a letter, purporting to have been written by Sherman Hoover, one of the so-called guards employed by the Hargrave Detective agency who performed the so-called work of guarding the property of the Southern Illinois Coal company. It is addressed to Hoover's divorced wife, Mrs. Fay Kuntz of Marion, Ill., and says in part:

"I've been here close by since June 6. No doubt you will be surprised to learn I am down here with a gang of moonshiners. Ha, ha, but the moonshine is Winchester rifles and field guns. We are only waiting for the heat to start and we have two guns planted on the dam reservoir, two on the creek and sleeping cars and six guns on top of the hills. They only shoot 600 shots a piece a minute and there are also 1000 guards with Winchester rifles. They shoot three miles. But as long as they stay three miles away they will be safe."

"If heaven help them, if they ever start in on mining company property."

President Farrington impeaches "the purpose, prompting submission" of the National Coal Association's brief. He says all coal operators associations in Illinois have withdrawn their memberships from it.

Speaks for Non-Unionists

"By this time," he added, "it has become known that the Herrin situation speaks largely for non-union operators who are contending for automatic non-union control of the industry."

Mr. Farrington's brief is about 4,000 words long. It ends it as follows:

"And in conclusion, must this terrible calamity pass without a lesson having been learned without a correction having been made? Can the old system be allowed to continue? In every other nation on earth the industrial 'gunman' has been banished. He has no place in an economic system."

GIRLS GRAB CHANCE FOR CAMP VACATION

First Period Filled—Vacancies in Others—After Business Women.

Camp Rotunda for girls will open Aug. 1, the period for which is already filled, and will last through Sept. 3 with three regular periods, and two week-end periods for business girls. Dates are: Aug. 1-11, junior high school girls, period full; Aug. 11-13, business girls, week-end; Aug. 13-15, senior high school girls; Aug. 15-19, junior high school girls; and Aug. 23, Sept. 3 (over Labor day) business girls.

With all regular periods rapidly filling to the 43 limit, Miss Marion Hamilton, camp director, will spend the coming week stirring interest among business girls for the two week-ends. At each of these, 43 girls can be accommodated. There are to be no cancellations.

Special attractions will be swimming instruction by Miss Helen West; the fee of $1.50 for the Aug. 11-13 period, $2.25 for over Labor day, this including the 43 girls fee paid on registration; and a laxity of regime at the camp which will allow girls to follow their own desires instead of the more strict program of the high school. The program will be informal.

Transportation both ways will be provided. A list of articles to make camp life comfortable will be furnished by Miss Hamilton.

Swift Couple Hurt When Cyclone Hits in Montana Camp

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Swift, 15 North High street, are motoring to the Pacific coast, were among the many tourists injured in a cyclone that hit Forsyth, Mont., Monday night, according to word received by Mrs. Swift's mother, Mrs. E. J. Schmidey, Mr. and Mrs. Swift, with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, New York, their traveling companions on the coast to coast tour, leaving Forsyth at 4 p. m. when the storm began. They drove up to a tourist's camp to wait until it subsided. Half and wind severely damaged the 55 cars stationed in the park. The glass in the Swift car was broken, the side curtains torn off and the body of the car dented. The entire top of the sedan driven by their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, was ripped off. Tents were blown away and the campers injured by minor bruises and cuts.

After the storm subsided, a relief party came out from Forsyth and took the tourists to their homes. A small village near the city was completely wiped out, trains delayed by washouts and camps washed out.

Mr. and Mrs. Swift expected to arrive in Yellowstone park by Sunday.

June Building in Wisconsin

June building contracts in Wisconsin totaled $9,513,200, according to the F. W. Dodge corporation. This was an increase of 8 per cent over June, 1922.

Last month's record included $3,632,800, or 38 per cent, for public works and utilities; $4,455,000, or 26 per cent, for residential buildings; $1,235,000, or 14 per cent, for educational buildings; and $832,000, or 9 per cent, for business buildings.

Construction started during the first six months of 1923 has amounted to $45,422,400, compared with $40,242,500 for the first half of last year, an increase of 13 per cent.

The assassins fled to the river bed and sped off on horses which had been hidden in the river bed near the bridge.

General B. Martinez, commanding a detachment of 100 federal soldiers, captured three of the attacking seven, late yesterday, a short distance from here. General Martinez, who hurried here from Chihuahua City for personal investigation, is holding the men. Military detachments have left Jimenez and Valle De Allende to trail the murderers.

Troops Trail Assassins Federal troops Saturday had gone to Camutillo in anticipation of possible disorders at the Villa ranch. Affairs affecting Villa's estate admitted are mixed and even now supposition is openly made here that the ranch may revert to the state.

Troops from the command of General Jose C. Escobar, are bound here from Torreon to help in the pursuit of the assassins, who still are unidentified.

Two theories are advanced by officers here in the investigation. One is that deserters from Villa's guard committed the killings. The other is that of revenge.

RADIO FINDS LOST MAN

The value of radio broadcasting in locating missing persons and articles was demonstrated when WLWV, Cincinnati, located Herbert Weber within a day after his disappearance had been sent into the air. This marks the first recovery of a person by radio although thousands of messages and descriptions have been sent to all parts of the world by radio.

THE AUDIBILITY CYCLE

Many years of careful research and experimental work by the world's leading scientists have resulted in authentic records which show that the relative audibility of received radio signals follow a definite curve. The best reception, as is generally known, is in winter. However, the curve is not regular. From the month of March on the audibility drops rapidly, reaching the low level in the late spring. From June on the rise is correspondingly rapid. From this we see that, contrary to popular belief, the bottom already has been reached and that from now on receiving conditions will be improving rapidly.

BRODHEAD HAS HIGH CLASS BAND

The pride of the Brodhead people is the Brodhead city band, recognized as one of the finest musical organizations in southern Wisconsin and directed by Roy East Monroe. The band has made many appearances at public gatherings and its playing was one of the features at the Fourth celebration in Janesville. There are 22 players, each a real musician. Concerts have been given by the band every other Saturday night and a movement has been started to have a concert every Saturday.

The change is favored by the merchants, who back it with private subscriptions. The city council gives $25 a month. Much of the band's success is due to the energetic work of J. C. Berryman, who three years ago reorganized it.

Make World's Swimming Suits and Underwear

This is the third of a series of articles on the industries of Janesville. This city has a most versatile and varied industrial life. It is well to know about your own city. Cut out these articles and preserve them.

Designers and makers of union suits, sport coats and swimming suits, the Lewis Knitting Co. is another of Janesville's industries. Founded over 40 years ago by F. F. Lewis, who still heads the organization, the industry has developed so that it now makes as one of the leading manufacturing organizations of its class in the United States.

Due to a continued demand upon the part of the trade, the Lewis company in 1922 began the manufacture and sale of swimming suits which have proven tremendously popular with the sporting trade. Sales have far exceeded expectations.

Originally, the company manufactured only men's and women's underwear, including hand knitted and full fashioned union suits. The line of women's wear was discontinued some years ago and production concentrated on the manufacture of men and women's fine union suits.

Within the last season production of men's sport coats was started along with the new line of swimming suits for men, women, misses and youths. The sport coats have also proven very popular and it is expected that production will be greatly increased with their continued success.

The sport coats are manufactured by the Lewis company are made of ribbed and flat knitted, plain and brushed fabrics selected from the best imported and domestic yarns.

Selected yarns purchased by the company are knitted into cotton, flannel, merinoized flannel, worsted wool, silk and mixture of materials. Over 70 circular bed machines are operated on which the full fashioned numbers are knitted. The knitted materials are cut over patterns and sewed to shape by the latest sewing machine devices. The cuffs, ankles and French collarettes are also knitted by machine.

The Lewis company also shows a long and colorful life of mainstay athletic garments. Branch offices and stock rooms are maintained at New York and San Francisco for the accommodation of customers. Large quantities of the finished goods are available at the stock rooms at all times, so that shipping delays are de-

THREE SURVIVORS OF COUNTY DINE: 30 EMPTY CHAIRS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Stillwater, Minn. — Thirty four places arranged at one long table, about which were 34 chairs, all but four of them draped with black and with their backs turned in a display of China, sparkling glassware and polished silver flanking a decorative center piece, on which rested a bottle of rare old wine—this was the setting in the low ceiling dining room of the old Sawyer House here today, the scene of the 39th annual banquet of the "Last man's club."

Three surviving members of this quaint organization, which for the last thirty eight years has met on the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run, July 21, in the Sawyer House, sat at that table today. The fourth member, Emil Graft of St. Cloud, Minn., was unable to attend, he wrote his companions, because he must spend the rest of his short span of years in a wheel chair.

The unopened bottle of wine, a gift to the club in 1885, will be drunk by the last survivor in a toast to his departed comrades of company B, fifth Minnesota infantry.

Blind Campaign Suffers Slump; Call for Help

The campaign in Janesville to raise funds to teach blind adults to earn their own living, will be continued a few more days. Results have not been so good as hoped.

This announcement was made by Supt. J. T. Hooper of the state school for the blind, chairman of the campaign here. A similar campaign is being conducted throughout the state to aid the blind, especially those who underwent such hardships last winter because of inability to find work. More expended in teaching them useful trades will save public money used in supporting them later, it is claimed.

RINGLINGS DROP PARADE; BIG SHOW

Cruelty to Animals, Cause of Action: Circus Is Better Than Ever.

When the circus comes to town on Tuesday night, the small boy and his friends and neighbors who have run in just to see the marching panoply of gorgeousness will not witness a parade at all.

In the first place, nearly every city in the country made it hard for the circus to do business in the streets, damaged trees, put trolley wires out of business and stopped all business for a half day. But there was another consideration which made the Ringlings stop the parade. It was the cruelty to horses and animals. In the hundred cars on the four trains which carry the circus were the eight and other numbers of horses, and harnesses ready to be hitched to the trucks and chariots. There was no time to take off the harness. After traveling all night, they were unloaded, hitched to the cars and cages and driven a mile or so through the town. Many times died from exhaustion. So it was the parade, which in some circuses was better than the show, was abandoned. Janesville is pleased that it is so.

Ringlings will arrive from Rockford Tuesday morning and the big show will be at the fair grounds in the afternoon and evening.

Ringlings is a Wisconsin institution and came from small beginnings at Baraboo. When the Barnum and Bailey show was taken over, the best men went with Ringlings. Other shows were added and the best in the business stuck to the new organization.

Of the 1,500 men and women with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey, at least 50 per cent have been with the show more than five years; 25 per cent more than 10 years and any number from fifteen to thirty years.

Charles R. Hutchinson, treasurer, has served almost twenty years. De W. E. Auditor, about the same length. John Brice, detective, has been with Ringling for twenty years and Johnny Agee, horse trainer, came when only twelve. He's forty-five now.

Tom Lynch, head of the draught horses, has seen fifty-four years of service and Jim Thomas, who drove the draught team in the old Barnum street parade has been with the show for fifty-six years.

Lev Graham, Charles Bell and Fred Brandau, announcer, manager of seats and ringmaster respectively, have served about thirty years, as have Clyde Ingalls, manager of the side show and Dexter Fellows, press agent.

The clowns, Charles Smith, Jimmie Sprague, George Hartzel, Pat Valdez, Nemo, Spader Johnson, Fred Stellings and Gus Zaunmeyer have seen from twenty to forty years with it. Smith and Hartzel, by the way, are worth a several hundred thousand dollars but still prefer making people laugh than to retire and live a life of ease.

TOBACCO SORTING IS IN FULL SWAY

Some Houses Are Stemming—Work Is Let to Take Home.

Tobacco sorting is now being done in most of the Janesville warehouses, although it has been in the hands of being done, local tobacco dealers said Saturday. All of the companies are employing their maximum number of workers and in some cases work is being let to homes for the first time in Janesville.

Due to the uncertainty of the crop, sorting which is usually started near Christmas, is being delayed until late February and in some instances was not begun until recently. The condition is general throughout the country, according to dealers here.

The Green Tobacco company is one of the few warehouses in the city engaged in stemming. They completed sorting the middle or May and expect to continue stemming permanently. About 125 are employed and work is being done by employees in their homes, as has been practiced in Watertown. The first time that work has been done for the Green company outside of the warehouse.

Elkhorn Hears

About Survey in "YW" Plan

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Elkhorn — A group of representative Elkhorn women heard the proposed plans for a district Y. W. C. A. in southern Wisconsin presented at a conference in the Elkhorn community hall Friday night. Speakers were Miss Florence S. Hyde, Janesville. Miss Lulu Matheson will serve as chairman of the survey committee and will be assisted by Miss Mabel Koenig, Madison, and Miss Isabel Barber, Mrs. Crunt Harrington and others. It is expected that a delegation of local women will attend one day district conference to be held at Lake Kegonsa, the town and conference which opens at College, camp July 27.

Arrangements were made Friday for a survey in Delavan under the direction of Mrs. J. L. D. Harrington. The Elkhorn conference was the last of a series conducted in southern Wisconsin point by Miss Stuenkel, rural community secretary, National Y. W. C. A. It is probable that she will return the middle of August for further work on the district organization.

JURY AWARDS $129 IN SUIT FOR BILL
For the first time in a year, Justice of the Peace Charles Wright awarded a case by jury Friday afternoon.

It was that of Walter Noblinsky against the Rock River Machine company for $178. The company claimed roofing on its building, paid for which Noblinsky was suing, was defective. It was done in October, 1918. The jury gave Noblinsky judgement for $100 and costs of $29.

The jury was composed of J. J. Young, William Foster, Charles Blay, Harry Siegel, John Halmer and George Drummond.

Some ARE MEAN; OTHERS MEANER, BUT THIS ONE—!
Found, the meanest woman in Janesville!
A woman applied to the committee in charge of arrangements for the entertainment of 60 Chicago tenement children in Janesville and vicinity in August and generously offered to take a child providing he was big enough to take care of her own small child, and to do other work about the house. The humane application was refused.
Although accommodations for only eight children have thus far been secured, it is expected that by next Saturday the full quota will be provided for. Volunteers to take one or more of the children are asked to communicate with Miss M. Smith in the office of J. G. McWilliam.

Many of the children who are being brought to Janesville under the auspices of the United Charities of Chicago have never been out of their slum districts so that the trip is expected to be a revelation in the wonders of nature to them. The extreme heat in the slums in August will be avoided and sickness prevented. The children will be properly clothed and clean before they are brought to the homes so that all that is asked is that they be given pure food and an opportunity to enjoy the beauties of nature.

250 Estimated Tourists Trade Here Every Day
Out of town travelers are becoming more numerous each day in Janesville. An average of 250 is going through here every 24 hours, the greatest number in the car, morning and evening. They are largely from Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, and are traveling north to the lake region around Milwaukee and Rhinelander. These figures were obtained from hotels and garages.
Over-night guests at hotels in town average 20 to 30 while restaurants deal approximately 200 each noon-day. Tourist trade has been good all through June and July in local stores. The heat of Thursday and Friday reduced the number somewhat, but these already on the road do not stop for heat. Travelers from 28 states have stopped at one gasoline station in the city in the last few days. The greatest number leave here for points in central Wisconsin while some keep to the open road as far north as Duluth.

Route 10 is the most popular to the northern lake region and is well worn in the central part of the state. The best routes at present to Minneapolis and St. Paul are 11 to La Crosse and 3 to Minneapolis, and through the central and western parts of Wisconsin. The Evansville road is not yet completed but the short stretch between that city and the point where the Magnolia comes in on the state trunk 10 is passable.

250 Estimated Tourists Trade Here Every Day

Out of town travelers are becoming more numerous each day in Janesville. An average of 250 is going through here every 24 hours, the greatest number in the car, morning and evening. They are largely from Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, and are traveling north to the lake region around Milwaukee and Rhinelander. These figures were obtained from hotels and garages.

Over-night guests at hotels in town average 20 to 30 while restaurants deal approximately 200 each noon-day. Tourist trade has been good all through June and July in local stores. The heat of Thursday and Friday reduced the number somewhat, but these already on the road do not stop for heat. Travelers from 28 states have stopped at one gasoline station in the city in the last few days. The greatest number leave here for points in central Wisconsin while some keep to the open road as far north as Duluth.

Route 10 is the most popular to the northern lake region and is well worn in the central part of the state. The best routes at present to Minneapolis and St. Paul are 11 to La Crosse and 3 to Minneapolis, and through the central and western parts of Wisconsin. The Evansville road is not yet completed but the short stretch between that city and the point where the Magnolia comes in on the state trunk 10 is passable.

Many of the children who are being brought to Janesville under the auspices of the United Charities of Chicago have never been out of their slum districts so that the trip is expected to be a revelation in the wonders of nature to them. The extreme heat in the slums in August will be avoided and sickness prevented. The children will be properly clothed and clean before they are brought to the homes so that all that is asked is that they be given pure food and an opportunity to enjoy the beauties of nature.

The Old Home Town.
At the close of this summer week when we are freed up on all sorts of politics and economic discussions, it may be well to turn from time and toll and war's turmoil to the playground of life where we can all get together and sing the same refrain. We have still a few weeks before dog days and then we shall have to begin to think about winter, the empty coal bin, the need for shoes and warmer clothing and other kindred items.
Just about now the young man and woman in the city turn to the Old Home Town as the mecca and the objective for vacation. They do this almost every year and in that way keep in touch with whatever happens in the twelve months. They know about the marriages and deaths, how Uncle Ike Hurd, the oldest man in the community, passed away, though everybody had been saying for twenty years that he would never go through another winter; how Aunt Amelia Bowen gave her home to the Ladies Aid Society and herself went to live with a sister who was sick, back in New York state. The Grover family whose boys were always into some devilment had moved away to Montana or was it Oklahoma? And more besides. The fact that a house had been painted, that the Baptist church had been newly furnished with cushions for the seats and that Clyde Sheldon had gone off to South America on an expedition for the Smithsonian Institute—an awesome and wonderful trip—are conversation topics enough. They partake of the beaten biscuits and honey of Grandma Young and pick blackberries from the same old pasture, lot. All the young people now growing up were at the Methodist Sunday School picnic at the river grove and so all old acquaintances are renewed year after year.
It is different with the man or woman who have promised faithfully that each year they would go back home and see the Old Town—and always something kept them away until at last they are moving in the direction of their new sedan. No trip can be much more poignantly sad. You stop at the Old Davenport farm for you remember that here were the finest apples—the Duchess of Oldenburg—and even the name was aristocratic and appealing, but the tree is a knotted and twisted wreck of early greatness. The well no longer is there—a gasoline pump in a well-house takes its place. The grass is high on the lawn and from the kitchen door peers a woman, foreign and strange, with children clinging to her dress. She tells you in broken language that the Davenports—“Yes, they have lived here—once, but they are not here now,” and she does not know where they are. And so the day begins. The village store is in other hands, old man Strang died in 1908, the faces on the street, or at the old hotel on the corner, now a barber shop and a garage, at one side, are new. There is Willie King, whose fair face and love of a joke got him in and out of mischief, walking slowly with a cane, dying by inches. He is glad to see you but just as glad if he had not. Here and there you get a hearty handshake. You are fully aware of one thing: you have passed completely, finally, out of this life and the lives of these people.
You let the wife sit in the sedan while you go into Emory Hall's shoe shop and renew some old friendships. The Bryan and Sewell club is still in session as it has been every afternoon for almost thirty years. You gave it that name long ago in jest and it still sticks. Here there is comradeship and the men who sit about remember you keenly and all you ever did, good, bad and indifferent.
That is the way it goes most of the day. At the Daniels place, where you earned your first forty cents wheeling saw dust in front of bee hives, the green blinds were hanging awry and the front door step was fallen into decay. The lilacs and the hedge cried aloud for trimming. You began to feel choky about the throat and inside of you was a heart, growing more leaden every minute, and you were sorry that you had come. One more place and you would go on away never to return.
At the end of a side street lived Aunt Lucinda Gray. She was old when you were a boy. The hollyhocks and the Virginia Creeper are just the same as twenty years ago. The dahlias and the gladiolas give promise of being as brilliant as in your youth. The morning-glory vine has a few flowers, under the weight of foliage, for it is in the heat of the day, and the blooms of morning have closed up and faded in the sun. White haired and no more wrinkled than in your youth sits the owner on the porch. So you are impelled to run in and tell her who you are. But she knows as soon as she sees your face. Here is welcome. She insists on your staying and you do. You learn all the town history, its hopes and struggles and disappointments, where everybody has gone and how they are getting along. You forget the flight of time and your wife and Aunt Lucinda disappear into the depths of the little house beyond the open door.
And never have you eaten such berries with cream and you ask if the Brennan boy still drives “Old Spot” up from the pasture every night. You laugh at the jokes. And the biscuits, the honey and the tea, and the six different kinds of preserves and a few slices of cold pressed chicken,

FEAR COAL SHORTAGE
By FREDERICK H. HASKIN
Washington—A shortage of anthracite coal again this winter, which will wear hardships particularly on householders, is feared by many who are in close touch with the situation.
This fear is not predicated necessarily on another miners' strike or suspension of production. There are many things, it is said, that may contribute to a shortage.
The labor problem is worrying many well informed people who have not liked the course of events in the conference between miners and operators at Atlantic City. The present wage agreement terminates Aug. 31 and mining will terminate on that date unless one of two things happens—either a new agreement will be negotiated prior to Aug. 31, or a temporary agreement will be made to continue work on the present basis pending further negotiations.
It is significant that the miners, through their officials, have been insisting that there should be a strike in working out a new agreement before Aug. 31, whereas the operators have been equally determined that the first thing to do was to agree that there should be no interruption of mining, if the new agreement has not been reached prior to the dead-line date.
To those who have had experience with negotiations between miners and operators in the past, this indicates that neither side expects a new agreement without a prolonged fight, possibly a strike, probably an arbitration, and in all likelihood, government intervention of some kind.
At best this means a condition of uncertainty for both producers and consumers of anthracite for a considerable period. Just the time of year when production should be at a maximum and distribution should be working out smoothly. Nothing upsets distribution so much as a panicky competition among consumers, such as has been indicated by heavy buying during the last three weeks in quarters that ordinarily would not be taking on much coal at this time.
Buyers who become alarmed over the outlook and are unable financially to place large orders on an immediate delivery basis may thus create a shortage, or what has the effect of a shortage, later on for less favorably situated consumers. And this may come to pass without any interruption in production, whatever and with a total supply assured that would insure everybody all the coal needed this winter.
It is evident that the leaders of the miners are determined to insist upon their demand for a 20 per cent wage increase and not to make any concessions on that score before Aug. 31. They are not threatening a strike, but they leave it to be understood that mining will cease after the date named. That, they will explain, will not be their fault, because they are ready and glad to continue work, provided their just demands have been acceded to.
On the other hand, the operators are equally determined to resist a wage increase which they declare to be unreasonable, and they claim they have shown their anxiety to protect the public interest by their willingness to make a temporary agreement to continue operations after Aug. 31 on the basis of the present scale. Thus they would place the responsibility for a strike or stoppage of production on the miners.
In the circumstances, the observers on the sidelines see little prospect of either side making any important concessions before Aug. 31, or at least not until just before that momentous date, unless the federal power is asserted in some way to force the Atlantic City conference to come to terms.
Presumably anything the government may do in this direction will come through the coal commission, although a situation may arise in which it will be necessary for Attorney General Daugherty to take some action. It has been reported that the commission already has given notice on both miners and operators that there must be some kind of an agreement not later than Aug. 31 that will give the public assurance that there will be no interruption in the production of anthracite, and it is not unlikely that something of this sort has been done. However, activities of the commission along such lines necessarily must be altogether informal, for the commission, has no authority in law to do anything of the kind.
Indeed, there are those who assert unhesitatingly that the government is powerless to do anything in the situation. Those who take this view point out that when the recent coal strike was threatened and after it was under way, all appeals to the federal authorities to do something to avert the disaster were answered with the statement that there was no law under which the government could intervene. The president could only offer his good offices as mediator in the public interest.
At any rate, the government did not step in and prevent a strike at that time, and there has been no act of Congress since.
However, there are others who hold that, whenever the president decides that the government should intervene, it can do so, and do so most effectively, even though there may be no specific statute contemplating such a proceeding. Induction and conspiracy actions in the federal courts have been discovered to be result-getters of the best kind in such emergencies, and on one memorable occasion a president simply served notice on the recalcitrant that if they did not do so and so by a certain date they would find the government running their industry on and after that date.
President Harding voiced his concern over the anthracite situation in a letter to Chairman Hammond of the coal commission a month ago, in which he said:
“I regret that those who serve the anthracite consuming public as mine operators and mine workers have not already agreed upon the terms of a new contract, but with your report available on July 1, there should be no delay in reaching a speedy agreement.”
Perhaps the most significant thing the president said, however, was:
“The public deserves prompt assurance that there will be no interruption after Aug. 31 in the flow of coal.”
The president and the coal commission have both said that industry and the home must be free from the menace of constant interruption of the coal supply.
put away by Aunt Lucinda herself, take off years with every bite. Nor is there any word of complaint or any critical analysis of the people—even when she tells what happened to the Deltier girls, the prettiest in the village—she is generous and has excuses. So in the early evening you say good bye, drive out into the streets darkened but for an occasional lamp, and off to where the neighboring city calls with its big hotel.
Still there is something about the day that is pleasing and memory is busy gleaming once more in childhood's fields. The Old Home Town, ragged and sad, older than its oldest patriarch, is yet beautiful and all its past and present is reflected in the calm and sweetness of Aunt Lucinda. After all the traveler is sorry and still glad that he has been back there, though every beautiful picture he had painted had been ruthlessly marred or destroyed. To him the Old Home Town calls again and next year when he has a little more time he will go and see if the old butternut tree on the Culver place is still standing.
Mr. Ford might write a book on the need for an equal distribution of wealth.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST
A BABY IN THE HOUSE.
Something to talk about, something to do, something to laugh at the whole day through. Something to look at with pride and with gloom. Something for friends to come in just to see. Oh, you can't turn up the world without things. Of joy and delight which a new baby brings.
The house is made over, there's something to hear.
A cry of delight or of hunger or fear.
There's something to work for and something to hold.
And something to dream of when you shall grow old.
And something to go to when night ends your care.
The house is a home when a baby is there.
There's a smile that is brighter than sunbeams of May.
A wave of farewell as you're starting away.
A glad time of frolic when you can steal.
A thrill inexpressible, lovely to feel.
There's something to boast of and something to tell.
When a baby has come to the place where you dwell.
There's never an hour that is lonely and drear.
The days are filled up to the top with good cheer.
You have someone to play with and someone to sing to.
Someone to romp with and someone to cling to.
And always you're finding some pleasure that's new.
When God has sent down a glad baby to you.

Who's Who Today
CHARLES STEINSON WILSON
After a short leave of absence from a consultation with President Harding on conditions in the Balkan States, Mr. Charles Steinson Wilson has returned to his duties at Sofia, Bulgaria.
Wilson is one of the few men in the diplomatic service who has risen from the ranks of secretary to the post of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary. He entered the service as secretary to Greece, Rumania and Serbia in 1901. He was secretary of the special mission to Belgrade and the coronation of King Peter and was afterward secretary of legation to Greece and Montenegro and to the diplomatic agent at Belgrade. He has been secretary of legation at Buenos Aires, Havana, Rome and St. Petersburg. He has also acted as counselor at Madrid and later became chargé d'affaires and afterward minister to Bulgaria.
He was born in Bangor, Me. in 1875 and was graduated from Harvard in 1897.

LOOKING BACKWARD
FORTY YEARS AGO
July 21, 1883.—Two thieves who robbed a hardware store in Stoughton last week were captured here this morning by Marshall Hogan. They are two suspicious characters who had not been in Janesville for several years and when arrested for being drunk were found to be carrying new revolvers and knives.
THIRTY YEARS AGO
July 21, 1893.—A Micker, who does not divulge his name, explained to the police his objections to the city refuse matter is allowed to be thrown about the streets and piled on the sidewalks even downtown, and is then not collected by the street department; the same department is lax in allowing weeds to grow all over the city; and there is no attempt to stop the dumping of ill-smelling refuse matter in the washout in the First ward.
TWENTY YEARS AGO
July 21, 1893.—School census is being taken by S. C. Burham, clerk of the school board, and two assistants—Business Men's Association met last night and discussed the Wells' Shoe factory proposition. A total of $74,000 was to have been raised. No action was taken.—Y. M. C. A. boys have returned from camp at Phantom Lake.
TEN YEARS AGO
July 21, 1913.—R. M. Postwick, Janesville's oldest active merchant, died this morning. There is to be no joint meeting of the recallists and those supporting the present government in the present political fight, which will have a culmination in the election Tuesday. Recallists failed to appear at a mass meeting at the Myers theater, and those of the other party refused to meet at the Court house park with the recallists, when only one speaker could be allowed them to seven on the recall side.

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
RECOVERY FROM RICKETS
Life and sunshine must be made. The less clothing the infant wears the better. The clothing should be enough only to protect against cold or sun. The infant should be allowed to move freely. Unrestricted movement (exercise) is one of the essential preventive and curative measures. “Fresh air” institutions for the summer care of infants in crowded cities are doing great service by giving the child life and sunshine.
Medical Treatment.—Pure cod liver oil most nearly deserves the name of a cure for rickets, but the details of its use should be prescribed by the physician. Ordinarily from 20 to 40 drops are given three times a day.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Is it unhealthful to live on the border of the salt marshes? Our house is the end of the street, right on the seaward. The house is here, with that wide expanse of earth and sky and the ocean in the distance, but my husband hesitates to buy the place because he thinks one can't be healthy living so near the marshes, and no cellar under the house.
Answer.—So far as the dampness, water or low ground may be concerned, it is healthy enough. The position of a cellar under the house is not a health question either. The only objection to such a situation is the possibility of the breeding of malaria-carrying mosquitoes (anopholes) in the marshes. I do not know what the conditions in this respect may be in your vicinity. If you have lived in the house 10 years and enjoyed good health, I would say, I would not let your friend's husband hang on to that chunk of sky, earth and ocean for you.
Getting Sunburned.
I am very fond of bathing, but I get so sunburned and sunburned that I am sure a coat of tan without getting painfully sunburned? (Miss H. B.)
Answer.—Exposure to the sun in the direct sun only five minutes, three times a day, the first day, and increase the duration of exposure not over five minutes each succeeding day. In this way burning may be avoided, yet a gradual tanning brought about.
I have a golf, sometimes high blood pressure and something about my heart and very nervous. What do you think of my symptoms for me? My doctor says I am 75 per cent impotent. I am 45 years old. I am a D. and knows his patient. The symptom is not for sick folk.
Answer.—To give my 2 months' old baby a full bath every day? Should soap be applied to the whole body every day in the bath? Is it necessary to keep wool over the baby's stomach until it is through cutting teeth? (Mrs. M. A.)
Answer.—Yes, a daily bath, or in very hot weather two baths daily. Soap should be given the baby's body for the dirty places. The baby won't be through cutting teeth until he is 20 to 25 years old.
Hygiene.—Provision for open air.

Q. What can be used to clean leather furniture? J. B.
A. A solution of soap and water to which oil and alcohol have been added will give good results for leather. To prepare, use one bar of white soap dissolved in one cup of water; then add one cup of alcohol and two cups of light oil. This will not only clean the leather, but will help to supply some of the oil it naturally requires.
Q. What will restore color to clothes that are faded? W. D.
A. In order for a fabric has been destroyed or changed, ammonia should be applied to neutralize the acid. A subsequent application of chloroform usually restores the original color.
Q. When were the banjo clocks first made in New England? J. L. C.
A. The Willard or banjo clocks, so well known in the vicinity of Boston, had their origin in the Willard family of clock makers began with Benjamin Willard, about 1770. The date of the first clock is not known.
Q. Who was the first of the Reincarnated Popes? B. M. G.
A. Nicholas V (1447-53).
Q. Is it true that Buffalo Bill was crowned by royalty in Europe? E. L. D.
A. Everywhere Colonel Cody went in Europe with his famous Wild West show he was entertained by royalty. When he was in London he was honored by the prince of Wales, the king of Denmark, the king of Saxony, the king of Greece, and the crown prince of Austria, all of whom he and the show he presented to the world.
Q. Is aluminum as light as paper of the same thickness? K. L.
A. Aluminum is heavier than paper.
Q. What was the most expensive drink ever known? A. P. G.
A. Aeson, son of Cleodius Aesonius, dissolved in vinegar a pearl valued at $40,000 and gave it to his wife as a drink of consuming the most expensive drink ever known.

A LOSING RACE
When cheapness comes in at the door quality flies out at the window. Price and quality should go hand-in-hand; they should not engage in a suicidal race. In emergencies articles may justly be sold at bargain prices. But to cut quality in order to meet price competition is to exchange present gain for future grief. This Company expects to be in business here indefinitely. It expects to have your children come in and ask for a gas range or other appliance “like the one you sold to mother.” That is why we handle only standard goods at fair prices.
Have You Joined the Bath-a-Day Brigade?
There is no doubt that a bath-a-day is conducive not only to cleanliness but to better health. With an economical gas water heater in your home, you will always have a plentiful supply of hot water for the bath.
To obtain a first class water heater you need only pay a small amount down and the remainder in easy monthly installments. You will find the outlay of money insignificant in view of the years of dependable service obtained from this marvelous appliance.
We invite you to inspect the Sands Automatic Storage Gas Water Heater—Price $130, payable $10 down and $10 a month.

New York.—After two days of uncertainty, during which the Under-ones held firm, stock prices turned definitely upward this week and the volume of business became relatively large.

Bond prices continued firm in quiet dealings, with some of the speculative issues fluctuating with the stocks. The definite turn came after the market had shown on two successive days a strong demand for number of miscellaneous shares, which ordinarily are not particularly active. This inquiry gradually spread to many of the more popular issues, in several of which there was an unusually large short interest as a result of the long period of decline. The upward movement, rendered emphatic by efforts of short interest to cover, was aided by the favorable technical position of the market and numerous encouraging news developments both at home and abroad. Observers who at first were inclined to make pessimistic pronouncements on the chances of agreement in the Ruhr tangle through Great Britain's leadership professed to see some hope in the later dispatches from London and Paris. Commodity prices were higher after an early slump although none of the gains were notable.

Stockholders of the Otis company recommended that each share of $100 par be changed into 10 shares of $10 each to pay a 100 per cent stock of ours, when asked why he was buying rather heavily now, when so many are hesitating, told this story:

"When I was a little boy and we lived on the farm, there used to come occasionally to visit us an elderly and scholarly gentleman—an Irishman, educated in a Scottish university—who owned and operated a farm nearby. In the course of time, he became very well-to-do—I think when he died, he left close to $500,000, a great deal for a farmer in those days."

"I had heard the folks discussing his wealth, so one evening when he was visiting us, I said, 'Mr. Blank, how did you happen to make so much money?' The old gentleman was very dignified and straightened up, somewhat offended at my fresh interrogation. But finally his sense of humor came to his rescue. He saw that I really was serious, and the gist of his reply was:

"I have not made so very much, but I presume what I have made has been due to the fact that I have been cautious and somewhat shrewd as a buyer and have always managed to keep a little ready cash on hand. When my neighbors thought there was no longer any money in raising hogs and were willing to sell them to me for much less than they cost to produce, I would buy hogs. If my neighbors were doing this sacrificing, other farmers must be doing the same and usually it was not very long before there was a genuine scarcity of hogs and I could sell those which I had bought at a handsome advance. I followed the same rule with respect to cattle, sheep, corn, oats and all manner of farm produce. I always bought the thing which was out of fashion for the moment, which was fundamentally good and which was available below the normal cost of production, and sooner or later I always found a market for it at a substantial profit."

"I have tried to follow this advice. Does it not explain why I buy bonds when they are low?"

Sometimes these dupes are sold a block of stock and are then induced to advise its purchase because they honestly believe it to be a sound investment. FRENCH INABILITY TO PAY HER DEBTS IS EXAGGERATED to pay their war debts. There is an all around cancellation, that they have put up a poorer face than is warranted either by an examination of the balance sheets or by the progress of the peoples in reconstruction.

The capacity of a people to pay is so theoretical a subject that estimates are frequently covered by desire. It is similarly true that the peoples paying power is related to the tax system used. Who, for instance, would have thought it possible in 1914 that America could swing a war debt of twenty-seven billions of dollars? It could be reduced by four and a half billions five years after the war. Naturally there is a distinct difference between America's situation with a hundred million people to draw on and France's with forty million and Germany's with sixty million, but the Europeans have by no means perfected their tax administration to a point of collecting taxes from all people whose incomes are taxable.

France and America

To understand what the French are able to pay America the balance sheet of France must first be examined. The total amount of France's external debt, including the amount owed to the United States. Great Britain and Japan, the eight billions of dollars. To this should be added the sixteen billion dollars of the French internal debt, or a total of twenty-six billions.

To offset these liabilities the French have on the other side of the ledger three billion dollars owed them by Russia, Belgium, Serbia, Rumania, Greece, Poland and Czechoslovakia. To this must be added approximately seventeen billions of reparations due from Germany, or a total in assets of twenty billions against liabilities of forty-two billions. It is interesting to note that this deficit of six billions is approximately what France used to carry as bonded debt before the war; so that if all countries owing money to France would show signs of paying there would not be a serious question at issue today as to France's solvency.

The Billion Russia Owes

But of the sums owed to France from the allied countries about one billion dollars is Russian debt, and who can say what Soviet Russia will do? Similarly, the seventeen billions due from Germany is more than half of the German budget, and British and American financial experts say Germany can not pay anything like thirty-two billion dollars. While Germany has lost Alsace Lorraine, per Siberia and other colonies, she also has been relieved of a large army and navy expense. The French think, of course, that Germany can swing a big debt, but if that is true, then France with the acquisition of Alsace Lorraine, the new colonies and the mandated regions is potentially much richer than Germany was before the war.

In other words, the French arguments for Germany's paying to the limit apply equally as well to France. But France is loath to bring to bay her debts to America and other countries if she could depend upon getting substantial sums from Germany.

As to Cancellation

The big point of interest in America, however, is what is France's true capacity if she does not realize from Germany the amount due her. Supposing the French found it necessary to accept only eight billions from Germany. They would not have a heaven and earth to get the British to cancel three billions and American billions to offset it, but the most that would probably result would be the reduction by the United States of interest charges and the funding of the debt over a longer term of years than granted to the British. Although America is morally bound not to give better terms to any nation than those given to Great Britain, the chances are the British would relieve America of that embarrassment in the hope of satisfying the French.

France is ahead of her another expenditure of three billion dollars for reconstruction which is not covered in the above balance sheet. Perhaps that estimate will ultimately be cut down, or a short time loan floated to meet it, especially if payments be-

Able to Pay

Potentially France is able to pay her debts, and indeed, so is Germany. All Europe has the capacity to pay. That's not the problem, but the crux of the matter is, will each nation let the other get strong enough to fight. Strong enough to pay means strong enough to fight. National prosperity is at the bottom of the whole business.

RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION IN THE U. S.

By Albert B. Cummins, United States Senator from Indiana, Chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce of the Senate.

Article I. Fundamentals of Transportation.—Transportation is the lifeblood of the nation. It is the medium by which the products of the land and the labor of the people are brought to the markets of the world. It is the factor which determines the prosperity of the nation.

It is my purpose to consider, in a series of brief articles, the subject of railway transportation in the United States, having in mind the legislation which congress has enacted for its control and regulation. My principal object is to lay the uncontroverted and undisputed facts, as they appear in the public records, before the people in order that they may draw their own conclusions. I will be compelled, now and then, to interweave with these statements argumentative matter, and to refer to some decisions of the Supreme court of the United States interpreting and applying the federal constitution; but mainly the discussion will be confined to the facts, as they are known to me, and as they are confirmed by the experience of the people. If the people are accurately informed upon any given subject, their conclusions will generally be correct. The object of this series of articles will be to promote the best interests of the whole country.

These articles will be published in the Janesville Gazette from day to day or from week to week as the convenience of that paper may require, and I acknowledge in advance my great obligation to the publishers of the paper for giving publicity to my views upon questions vital to the progress and prosperity of the men and women who make up the population of the most powerful nation in all the world.

It is first to be observed and never for a moment forgotten, that the fundamental problem in transportation is the movement of goods and passengers from the places of production to the places of consumption, and from the places of production to the places of distribution. THE KIND OF A MAN GOD LOVES

REVIEW OF THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR JULY 22, 1923.

Read Luke 9 and John 19.

WM. SOUTHERN, JR.

One day after Jesus had organized the Twelve and was preaching and teaching and healing, several of his disciples came running to him in great excitement. John was the spokesman and he said:

"We saw one casting out devils in thy name; and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us, as we do."

John said with him were very much surprised when Jesus said:

"Forbid him not; for he that is not against us is for us."

At another time Jesus and his disciples were on their way to Jerusalem they sought to pass through Samaria. The Samaritans would not receive them and the disciples were very indignant. James and John, brothers, said to Jesus:

"Lord, wilt thou that we bid fire to come down from Heaven and consume them?"

These incidents happened when John the Disciple whom Jesus loved, was a young man and explained why he and his brother, James, were called Boanerges, or Sons of Thunder. Jesus said to them: "Ye know not what ye say. The Son of Man has to suffer many things, and be killed, and be raised again, and sit on the right hand of the Father, and come with the clouds of Heaven, and judge the living and the dead. And whosoever will not take up his cross and follow me, cannot be my disciple."

We meet him after the resurrection in Jerusalem. He is now a young man, and he begins to understand what Jesus meant by his kingdom, his spiritual kingdom. Later, when he is an older man, he is still a young man, and he begins to understand what Jesus meant by his kingdom, his spiritual kingdom.

"Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth not God, who loveth not his brother. The love that is of God, it is that which is of God, and knoweth not God, who loveth not his brother. The love that is of God, it is that which is of God, and knoweth not God, who loveth not his brother."

This lesson is given as a character sketch of John, the Disciple whom Jesus loved, the brother of James, the son of Zebedee. John was a young man, and he began to understand what Jesus meant by his kingdom, his spiritual kingdom.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville.—The chautauqua opened

Thursday afternoon, with good audiences at both performances. The Italian Mountaineers with their quaint costumes and instruments pleased the audiences greatly. The lecture of Harold Morton Kramer, "Laughter, a Gift of the Gods," was enjoyed by a large audience.

The chautauqua will continue Friday night, Orfordville is enjoying another fine line, running from Monroe to Beloit, this giving the citizens an opportunity to go to the line city in the morning and return in the evening.

In Orfordville about 5 o'clock—Messrs. and Mrs. Ward Stewart and Richard Egan of the Journal office toured the country with their editor.

Friday, Mr. and Mrs. James Mow left Thursday by automobile to visit Antigo relatives. "The Triangles" will play the Janesville Tank Corp Sunday on the ball grounds west of town.

The W. T. Green farm, Mr. Morris Van Hecke, Kansas, and Mrs. Oscar Nelson, Janesville, accompanied by their families, are visiting their mother, Mrs. J. Kelley.

STATE FAIRLIST CLOSES ON AUG. 1

Breeders to Have Opportunity to Study True Breed Type, at Fairs.

By Lewis C. French

TRIES for all livestock, whether in the county herds or exhibited by individuals, must be filed with the state fair officials by Aug. 1. This rule, while a far one, will work some hardships in the formation of the Rock county exhibits, in that there is but limited time to prepare for additional animals and to make up the swine herds. It would be an easy matter to select the blue ribbon winners in the swine classes at the Rock county or Janesville fair, but in going over the county there is chance that real outstanding animals are overlooked.

The cattle exhibit is practically complete, and 30 head of dairy and 10 head of beef cattle are at the fair grounds for fitting.

Show Time Soon

A part of the exhibit will be taken to the Rock county fair at Evansville, Wis., Aug. 13-14.

The next show will be the Janesville fair, where the county exhibit will be organized to the full limit in preparation for the exhibit. From Janesville the county train will move to Monroe for the Green county fair, and will show in the new $35,000 pavilion. There is going to be a stiff competition in the swine classes, especially in the Holstein and Brown Swiss classes. Then the Dane county fair at Madison, and the week after the Wisconsin state fair at West Allis.

Rock county will be there in full force and the support of the citizens is expected to boost the county wide movement to put before the public the best in agriculture that the county produces.

Inter-County Rivalry

From Walworth county Holstein herd will be formed for the state fair. The committee in charge of the county herd is composed of George P. Paine, Darius W. Johnson, Earl Troy, and A. D. Whitmore. Lyons, Jefferson county has formed Holstein and Guernsey herds, and Green county is making every effort to bring out a representative array of its prize dairy stock. Waukesha will be out stronger than ever.

Such a Holstein show as there will be in West Allis along with these and other county exhibits, there will be the Carnation herd from Washington, the Washington, Oregon and California state herds enroute for the national dairy show. A ribbon in such competition will mean something, and Wisconsin will have to have the class to stay in the ring. Last alone he favored by that every welcome order of the judge to get in the selected line. The same class of competition holds true of other breeds, and all in all farmers may expect a record breaking exhibit of stock, not only at the state fairs, but at their own county fairs.

Support the Fair

True type establishment is a popular breed subject today. Since the Holstein association adopted model type standards other breeds are following in line. A committee has been appointed from the Guernsey association to draw up true type models. Other breeds will follow.

What does it mean? In short, every breeder must become a student of breed type to obtain an intelligent idea of what his stock should look like to be considered good. Out of the formation of the true type standards will come methods to obtain these standards and sizes will be purchased not alone on their production marks, but also to their ability to breed stock true to standards of type, or breed "trade marks."

Farmers of Rock, Green, Dane, Jefferson and Walworth counties will have wonderful opportunity to study breed type in their own rings. Fair judging is valuable for type demonstration, providing the judges are competent.

These counties have good pavilions where people can sit in comfort and watch the judging. That means much. And here in Rock county judges will be asked to do lecture on the value of type, and explain their placings, not to offer material to be disputed by the "wing birds" but to help in the education of the public, to breed for obtaining good type.

Must Have Type

The day of selling livestock on peddler papers alone is past. Buyers are paying more attention to records, and it is the good type animal that has indication of production powers that tops the sales. Both the Rock county and Janesville fairs will pay special attention to the judging of livestock. There will be good exhibits of the various breeds all down the line for a year or two to come. It is hoped that the judging ring at both fairs will be packed with people ready to learn something about breed standards.

The fact that the Holstein counties are coming out with show herds is no cause for alarm. It is a good thing in that it brings out a larger and better quality exhibit, and most important of all, it inspires the county "makers" the breeders step lively. And every time they step they improve the livestock standards of their particular community.

It is idle to predict that Rock county will make a great showing, but it is safe to predict that all will know Rock county is on the map and coming strong in stock development. Dairy interests in this county were practically dormant and right now every county has respect for what Rock is trying to do in bringing out a real representative array of all classes of stock.

There is coming a time when the South central counties, such as Dane, Rock, Green, Jefferson and Walworth are going to co-operate in going out on the show circuit to prove that these counties produce the best stock in the country and they can do it. Such an inter-county exhibit at the national or district shows would work.

Selecting Swine

Due to the limited time swine breeders are urged to co-operate in full in the selection of the county herds.

There are about 80 cattle in the county exhibit and as many good swine will be taken as is consistent with the county pool plan of making the entries pay their way. Any hog breeder having a show type animal is urged to make this fact known to the Farm Bureau office, court house, Janesville, by next week. It is probable that the next week it will be shipped home after the Milwaukee fair, due to the fact a long trip has a severe effect on the well fitted pork animals.

There is an honest effort being made at the fairs to make the livestock exhibits a true "class room" for the farmers to study type. Such an effort deserves the patronage of all those interested in stock development, not only in exhibits but in attendance.

BEEKEEPERS ARE INTERESTED IN STATE MEETING, AUG. 13

In addition to holding a picnic at Riverside, near Janesville, Sunday, the Rock County Beekeepers' association is interested in the fifth annual conference of the Wisconsin Beekeepers' Association, to be held in Milwaukee, Aug. 13 to 15. H. P. Wilson of the Wisconsin college of agriculture will preside. The conference will be dedicated to Charles C. Miller, veteran beekeeper.

The Charles C. Miller Agricultural Memorial Library, now a part of the Wisconsin Agricultural Library, will be dedicated to him at Milwaukee, by automobile to the former home of Dr. Miller in Marengo, Ill., will take place Aug. 18.

"AGGIE" TEACHERS LIKE SPIRIT HERE

Pass Resolution of Appreciation for Hospitality of County.

Expressions of appreciation of the efforts made by Rock county in making the conference of the Wisconsin Agricultural Library, will be made during the banquet meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. Teachers who advised the county train will be made up of the commissioner of agriculture, the state veterinarian and one other state man.

The policy to be taken this year, according to Commissioner Jones, will be to spread over the money available in a progressive and constructive policy. The state will adopt more rigid rules regarding the testing by practitioners.

Any farmer desiring a test by a practitioner will be required to sign a pledge with the state that he intends to continue testing and observing the rules that mean a clean herd. Practitioners will be charged with making true tests and reports or lose their right to test and the claims for indemnity. The counties in the northern belt, already once tested, will be retested as far as possible.

"I do not know what we can do about the Rock county situation," stated Commissioner Jones, "but we will try to do it."

The following resolution, prepared by the Rock county teachers, was passed by the Wisconsin Smith-Hughes teachers:

"Whereas:

"In as much as the Smith-Hughes teachers' vocational agriculture of the state, of Wisconsin in convention assembled in the city of Janesville have had a very profitable and enjoyable experience;

"Be It Resolved:

"That we extend our appreciation and thanks to the following: The Citizens of Janesville, The Rotary Club, The Rock County Farm Bureau.

The Live Stock Breeders of Rock county, Superintendent of Schools F. O. Holt, The Janesville Gazette, Mr. J. A. Craig, Mr. H. C. Hommelway, Mr. E. M. Tiffney.

"Be it further resolved:

"That we extend to Mr. G. W. Gehrand, state supervisor vocational agricultural education, and to Mr. L. E. Jackson, agricultural instructor in the Janesville high school, our sincere appreciation for their efforts in making this conference a success."

Committee—

G. O. TINKHAM, L. G. KUENNING, V. E. KIVEN.

Teachers are now, or will be, community agricultural leaders. There was a combination of musical and speaking events on the program during the banquet, enjoyed by all.

J. A. Craig and Prof. E. M. Tiffney, Kansas, urged that agricultural teachers should realize that the farmer's destiny was in their hands and that a collective effort or combination would relieve the present unsatisfactory conditions.

"There is need for straight thinking," declared Professor Tiffney. "You teachers cannot become political leaders or political speakers, but you can think right, and act right in matters pertaining to legislation."

G. W. Gehrand, supervisor of the teachers, advised the teachers that hard and field demonstrations were arranged to bring out "something besides test book methods."

"We want you to know the meaning of the text books and how they are actually applied on the farm," stated Mr. Gehrand. "There is but one good way to study livestock and that is by seeing the stock itself. Rock county is right in the bloom stage and every one of us has obtained a better idea of what good livestock should be and means to a community."

Among those who spoke were W. C. Christensen, Chippewa Falls, S. C. Corey, Wisconsin Rapids, John Long, Grafton; G. L. Ralph, Belmont.

The hit of the program were musical selections and stories by E. F. Russey, Elkhorn and John Long, W. E. Jackson and Mrs. William L. Malmberg gave several selections, pleasing those present.

ROBINSON NAMED ON STOCK BOARD

Four Breeders Added to Livestock Sanitary Board—New Tester Here.

During the coming week John Jones, Jr., commissioner of agriculture, will call together the new Wisconsin Livestock Sanitary Board. This board will map out the plan of bovine tuberculosis eradication work in Wisconsin.

C. Robinson, Evansville, Hereford breeder and president of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association, has been named as one of the farmer members of the board. Commissioner Jones did the farmers another good turn in adding additional breeders to the board. Robinson was suggested to represent the beef cattle interests of the state. Walter Schroeder, West Bend, will represent the dairy interests, and R. C. Cuff, Hortonville, the swine breeders. George Nelson, Rock county, has also been named. The other three members will be made up of the commissioner of agriculture, the state veterinarian and one other state man.

Re-test Counties

The policy to be taken this year, according to Commissioner Jones, will be to spread over the money available in a progressive and constructive policy. The state will adopt more rigid rules regarding the testing by practitioners.

JUNIOR CLUB

Just another week or two and the boys and girls of Rock county in the junior club projects will be in the show ring with their entries.

The junior club exhibit will feature both the Rock county fair at Evansville and the Janesville exposition. B. T. Green, superintendent of the cattle division of the Rock county fair, is making special effort to have the boys and girls in the county clubs show their stock at Evansville. Besides the liberal premiums offered at Evansville, Supt. Green has made arrangements to have every boy or girl receive a special prize, no matter whether they are "in" on the prize money or not. Every junior who exhibits will receive a slip of paper showing them the nature of the prize and to whom to apply in order to receive it. Evansville merchants are joining in the giving of these prizes.

If enough boys and girls enter their animals at Evansville, a special tent will be erected, according to Dr. C. S. Ware, secretary.

At the Janesville fair the round-up of the junior club work will take place. There will be a boys and girls program on the opening day, Tuesday, when the stock will be judged. Every youngster is now making efforts to have his or her pig, calf or lamb look in the best possible shape for the show ring. Much of the remaining time can be used to a decided advantage in training the animals for showing, especially the dairy calves and baby beef animals. Arrangements will be made for the testing of the calves as the rules require that they must pass a bovine tuberculosis test before being allowed on the fair grounds. This testing will be done by the state and federal agents.

In visiting many farms, it is a significant fact that the best animals on the farm are junior club stock. Another sign of improvement is the fact there is seldom found a farm where there is not a boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 who has not a club project to show.

Rock county will not have to worry about show stock three or four years from now.

L. E. Jackson and County Agent R. T. Glasco are planning taking the top winners in the club exhibits to the state fair. A county junior calf club and pig club exhibit will be made. The baby beef animals and sheep will be shown at the Junior Livestock exhibition if not at the state fair.

GRAIN THE HERD.

With milk at present prices it will pay farmers having good dairy cows to grain his herd while on pasture.

Enough more milk will be produced to more than pay for the grain and the herd will remain in better flesh. It is a proven fact that cows fed grain on pasture, milk much better after calving during the fall. A good grain ration recommended by L. J. Merriam, Walworth county agent, follows: 200 pounds ground corn or ground barley; 200 pounds bran or ground oats; 100 pounds of meal or cotton seed meal. "Feed one pound of grain mixture for each 3 to 5 pounds of milk produced according to the condition of the pasture," reports Merriam.

The National Dairy show will be held on the New York state fair grounds Syracuse, on Oct. 3 to the 13, inclusive.

THRESHERMEN!

Don't Go Into the Field This Year Without Workmen's Compensation Insurance

Under the new Compensation Law just passed practically every thresherman in the State of Wisconsin must carry Workmen's Compensation Insurance covering his employees.

Any employer failing to comply with this new Compensation Law is subject to heavy fine or imprisonment, or both and each day's failure shall be a separate offense.

Any employer who shall not have complied with the provisions of the new Compensation Law at the time of accident shall not be entitled to any exemption of property from seizure and sale in case compensation is awarded.

Remember, if any one of your men is injured while working for you—you must pay him sixty-five per cent of his weekly wage during time of disability plus doctor and hospital bills. In case of permanent total disability your liability under the new Law may amount to $16,380.00.

A working member of partnership receiving wages, irrespective of profits from such partnership, shall be deemed an employee within the meaning of this Law.

Threshermen, don't gamble—One accident may wipe out the savings of a lifetime. Don't take chances when you can get a policy written by the Threshermen's National Insurance Company, Madison, for $40.00, that will pay for all accidents, all doctor and hospital bills and relieve you of any and all responsibilities.

Let's talk it over. Will gladly answer all questions and inquiries without charge.

Benny Leonard, left, and Lew Tendler.

The fourth big championship bout in the last few months will be staged at the Yankee stadium, New York, July 23, when Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, and Lew Tendler, Philadelphia, challenger, meet. Tendler's showing against Leonard in their meeting a year ago gives Lew's friends hopes that he will emulate Pancho Villa and Eugene Criqui.

Part of huge crowd of parishioners gathered at Church of Mt. Carmel to burn their sacrifice candles.

Thousands of persons of Italian lineage recently crowded the Church of Mt. Carmel, New York city, to burn candles to show their appreciation for Christ's aid in curing their ills. The affair is an annual one. It usually lasts a week.

The costume at the left is a suit-dress model of white zashanara crepe embroidered in an Egyptian design. Without the coat the model is a sleeveless dress, the waist of which is elaborately embroidered. The skirt is draped at one side and the jacket has bell sleeves with embroidered cuffs and narrow, ornamental strip, extends down each side. A knitted two-piece costume of tan wool and brown fiber silk is shown on the right, with sleeveless jacket, while in the center is another two-piece suit consisting of a tan dress of pleated canton crepe and a jacket of bokhara. The latter has bell sleeves and is trimmed with the tan canton crepe to match.

GIRL APPOINTED OKLAHOMA STATE POET LAUREATE

Miss Violet McDougal.

Miss Violet McDougal of Sapulpa, Oklahoma, was recently appointed "poet laureate" of that state by Gov. J. C. Walton. The appointment was received on June 21, this year, and was prompted by the efforts of various women's clubs in Oklahoma and through the Writers' Guild of Oklahoma City and the Poetry Guild of Norman, the site of the state university.

Mrs. Catherine Buddenick.

Mrs. Catherine Buddenick, alias O'Shaughnessy, of Brooklyn, police say, left her husband and three children to associate with a burglar band, because she was wearying of "home cares and wanted to see life." She is being held in $1,000 bail on a burglary charge. Mrs. Buddenick claimed that she had married too young and declared that this combined with poverty were far too much for her to bear.

That each Buick dealer is required to meet definite qualifications before he is permitted to hang before his door the Buick Authorized Service sign.

1. He must employ trained Buick mechanics.
2. His garage must have modern equipment that makes possible the most exact workmanship in shortest possible time.
3. He must carry a complete stock of Buick genuine parts based on the number of Buick cars in his community.
4. His policy must be in full agreement with the uniform Buick service policy of courtesy and fair dealing with the public.

To safeguard Buick owners and to assure them continuance of the dependable, satisfactory performance typical of all Buick cars, Authorized Buick Service Stations coast the whole country from coast to coast.

When Gears Won't Stay Meshed

Shifting Forks May Be Sprung By Inconsiderate Handling

AFTER A CAR HAS SEEN LONG SERVICE and sometimes before this, it occasionally happens that trouble develops from failure of the transmission gears to remain in engagement until neutralized by the operator. For instance, second speed may be thrown in, on a steep hill, but before the need of using it is past, the gears may slip out of engagement, of their own accord, leaving the engine racing and the car out of engine control. Under normal conditions, when the shifting lever is moved into one of the speed positions, the sliding gear is shifted into mesh with the stationary gear, concerned, by a fork, until their teeth engage completely, and when this position is reached, a retaining device automatically acts to hold them precisely in this correct relation. This latter is spoken of as the "gear lock," but it is not positive in its action, as this would prevent shifting back to neutral. It is merely a stationary spring-pressed plunger, the V point of which, when the correct operative position is reached, enters a V shaped slot in a slide, which moves with the gears that are being shifted. Little force is required to unscrew the plunger in the slot and unlatch the gears. If the shifting fork is worn or bent so that it does not move the gear fully into position, the lock does not act and there is nothing to retain the mesh and if the plunger becomes stuck in its disengaged position, if its point is worn off round or if its spring has become weakened, there is insufficient locking force to be proof against unmeshing tendencies and the gears may slip apart. In case one or both of the two gears have become badly chipped or burred, so that their teeth contact is no longer true and even, pressures may develop tending to throw them out of mesh, when heavy loads are being carried. It sometimes happens too, that play develops between the gear shafts and their bearings, particularly end play, which permits a slight "shucking" back and forth of the sliding gear shaft and its gears, with the result that the locking device fails to hold and disengagement occurs. By removing the transmission cover and the shifting housing, it should be possible to inspect the gear faces, to check up the completeness of the engagement on each speed, to examine the locking plungers for spring pressure, freedom of action, etc., and to determine whether there is excessive end or radial play in the shafts.

STARTER MOTOR CAUSES FIRE

G. P. C. asks: What, in your opinion, was the cause of a short circuit and subsequent fire which occurred on a car when, during the cranking operation, the starter gear jammed and the engine did not turn over. I wish to prevent this from occurring again. How can this be accomplished?

Answer: In the normal operation of a starting motor, for a fraction of a second until it begins to turn over, an enormous current flows through it, but as soon as its armature begins to rotate, it acts as a generator and produces a voltage which is in opposition to that of the battery and limits the current flow, so that when normal armature speed is attained, the current is of safe volume. On the other hand, if the gears are jammed, so that the motor armature cannot rotate, no counter electromotive force is developed and the resistance of the motor windings is so low that the battery sends out the full current almost as fast as it is able to. If the circuit remains closed, this may be such excessive volume as to produce arcs at the brushes or at any imperfect circuit connections or to heat the starter motor or even to inflame any oil soaked combustible insulation that is involved. By letting up on the starter pedal the instant that the failure of the motor to rotate is noted, serious results should be obviated.

WEAK WATER CIRCULATION

H. S. asks: Why is it that water starts to boil in the radiator of my car, while it is not too warm for one to bear his hand on it. I have cleaned out the radiator with care.

Answer: This looks like a case of poor circulation. Presumably the water in the engine jackets reaches the boiling point and some of this passes through the upper connection into the top of the radiator, in a boiling condition, but as there is little circulation down through the radiator, the average temperature of the latter rises but little. Your car has pump circulation and we suggest that you detach the upper rubber connection at the radiator, speed up the engine for a moment and see if a full stream of water is expelled at considerable velocity. If not, you better inspect the pump to see that its impeller really turns and renews the rubber connections if they are old or there is a possibility that they are closed up inside. If they have become very limp, they may be suspected. Possibly, although you have tried to clean it out, the passages of your radiator may still be partly obstructed. With both its connections detached, water supplied to the filler opening, from a hose, should run out the lower opening very freely in a full stream.

Mr. Truck Operator Use Firestone

Heavy Duty Cushion Truck Tire

Examine the construction of this Heavy Duty Cushion Truck Tire in our show room, and you will see—why it is the only economical tire to use for heavy duty work. Road trucks, dump trucks, logging trucks, heavy duty trucks of all kinds need this tire.

It is a real "ground gripper." Staggered cross members, divided by deep "cups," give plenty of space for deflection and heat radiation. This construction increases the resistance to skidding and slipping. The Heavy Duty Cushion is a real Non-Skid.

From Waste to Thrift

Enough wasted capital to build homes for all!

The United States Government thinks so much of the THRIFT movement that it is expending many thousands of dollars annually to keep the thought before the people. Whether we are so intentionally or not the fact remains that the American nation is extremely wasteful in its habits. It is easy for each one of us to make a list of the things we buy habitually which are of little or no value to us. But, when we are thinking along this line, we should not forget the one wasteful practice which the majority of families indulge in—that of buying rent receipts.

This purchasing of rent receipts is so needless, too. The landlord, be he kind or otherwise, always has us at his mercy. He can raise the rent on us at any time, or he can order us to vacate his property at his convenience, without any regard for our wishes or possible losses. It is true that we live in a house meanwhile, but it can never be a real HOME, because HOME signifies possession; and our possession of a rented house or apartment is always precarious.

We all want a home, too. The wife longs for it and the kiddies constantly ask why they can not plant that flower garden or put up that bird-cote or do a thousand and one other things that normal children want to do—and can not when they are homeless. Even the little ones themselves are often barred from the rented apartment—and that means a terrible loss alike to the married couple, the community and the nation.

AND YOU CAN HAVE A HOME FOR WHAT YOUR USELESS RENT RECEIPTS COST YOU. Did you ever stop and think for a few consecutive moments along that line? For instance, you pay a rental of $20.00 per month—very modest in these days—well, in ten years that will aggregate $2,400.00, for which you can build a home equally as good as the one which you can get for that rental. And so you can add the rent you pay in any twelve months and multiply it by ten and there is your HOME.

But, suppose you can not put out that amount at once. Here is where THRIFT comes in at the door and WASTE is forced to fly out at the window—or any other available opening. Have you ever considered that the average cost of cosmetics, chewing gum, sodas and soft drinks, joy rides and pleasure resorts is $276.00 a year for every man, woman and child in the United States? That is what Uncle Sam says, based on the figures secured by his census bureau.

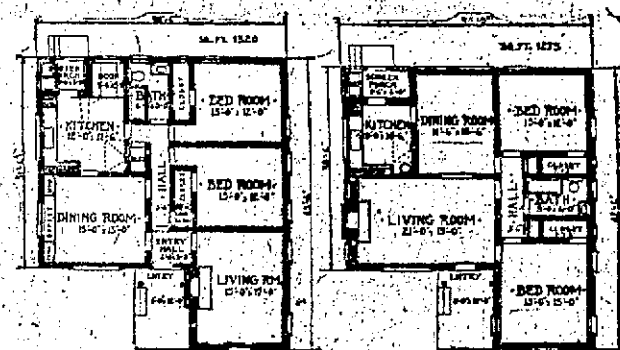

Now, here are yourself and wife—suppose you have no little ones in your family as yet. There is an average of $452.00 a year for these few luxuries, to say nothing of a hundred others that may be named. Can you not save out of these other things for a few years only, sufficient to pay the interest on the sum of money which will buy your real HOME? You will not have to give them up—by no means. But, by a little care you can lop off here and there a dollar or five or ten, until, before you know it, you have your own home and are on "Easy Street."

WASTE is not alone spending foolishly—it also comprises failure to spend wisely.

What more sensible expenditure can YOU make than when buying a HOME?

The last few years have seen more home-buyers than any century previous—all because men and women are listening to the voices of their better natures and providing places where children may develop with their trees and flowers and pets, and where husbands and wives may grow into fathers and mothers who are both wise and generous.

THE ROAD TO THRIFT EVER LEADS AWAY FROM WASTE; THE BUYING OF A HOME IS THE MOST THRIFTY THING YOU HAVE EVER CONTEMPLATED OR ACHIEVED. AND, BY FAR THE BEST WAY TO BUY A HOME IS TO BUILD ONE.

You can hardly help but agree and concede this modern little home to be the most attractive you have ever had submitted for your consideration. Semi-colonial in design with details that command appreciation, and while this exterior view shows the home built on a slight grade, it is just as effective built on a level lot.

It is the interior arrangement that we specially want to call to your attention, for it would be hard indeed to conceive of improvements that would add to the conveniences already embodied, and surely from the alternate plans shown one will meet your requirements and be just what you will want to adopt to build from.

A letter to the Home Building Editor will advise cost of plans and any additional information you may care to secure.
